

Signature of a tripartite agreement between UPPA, the University of La Plata and the University of the Basque country

Encouraging multi-site student mobility.

At the end of 2015, UPPA signed a tripartite cooperation agreement with the National University of La Plata (Argentina) and the University of the Basque Country (Spain) with the objective of encouraging and strengthening multi-site student mobility.

Thus students at each of the three universities will have the possibility of going to study in one, or even both of the partner institutions (a student at UPPA could do one semester at the University of the Basque Country and one semester at the University of La Plata). This exchange programme is open to students who have already validated two years of an undergraduate degree and have a minimum level of B2 in Spanish (for students from UPPA). Every year four students from each university will be able to benefit from this privileged partnership.
